Market Review:

VSPRONDETE

For the week ended August 22nd, 2025

- The NGX All-Share Index (NGX-ASI) experienced a bearish week, as the market retreated by 2.51% WoW to settle at 141,004.10. This downward pressure, largely attributed to profit-taking in major tickers like BUACEMENT(-9.96% WoW), DANGCEM(-9.88% WoW), Oando (-6.04% WoW), GTCO (-3.73% WoW), MTN (-2.25% WoW), brought the YtD return to +37.00%.
- Sectoral performance was predominantly weak, with only the NGXCNSMRGDS(+0.83%) closing in the positive territory. The sell-off was most pronounced in the NGXINDUSTR, which saw the steepest decline of 8.42%. Other notable losers included NGXINS (-4.17% WoW), NGXOILGAS (-0.84% WoW), and NGXBNK (-3.48% WoW)
- The market's declining momentum was further evidenced by a market breadth of 0.83x, indicating that more stocks lost value than gained. Trading activity also softened considerably. Total volume traded decreased by 16.33% to 4.11bn(down from 8.53bn), while total value traded also fell to settle at NGN89bn (down from NGN99.49bn). This indicated that overall trading activity slowed down significantly.

Outlook:

For the week commencing August 25th, 2025

- For this week, we anticipate a gradual build-up in market momentum, particularly as investors aim to take advantage of attractive entry opportunities across tickers that shed prices last week.
- Also, expected corporate actions within the banking sector (Tier-1 banks H1:2025 earnings releases) and consumer goods sector (CHAMPION's acquisition of Bullet), coupled with dividend announcements, may support market activity during the week.
- Conversely, a handful of tickers still trading at their year-highs offer opportunities for further profit-taking activities this week.
- Overall, while we foresee a predominantly mixed sentiment this week, we expect an overriding bullish bias to characterise market activities, howbeit marginally.

Meristem 2025 Half-Year Strategic Portfolio

The return on our 2025 Half-Year Strategic Equity Portfolio declined to 34.38% at the close of trading activities last week (vs. 36.82% the previous week). Price declines in WAPCO and NEM impacted the portfolio's position. Nonetheless, we anticipate sustained upward repricing across our diversified pool of fundamentally sound tickers in subsequent trading sessions for the rest of the year.
